

I am writing to strongly encourage you not to allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service. In some ways, this appears to be an attempt to restrict Christian broadcasting, since many Christian stations/networks utilize translator stations to reach their audience. Many small communities would be deprived of access to Christian programming, due to the cost of individual stations.

I listen to, and enjoy KLOVE radio here in Omaha. It provides music with a positive message, unlike many of the other stations on the dial. This is especially important for the teenagers who will be listening to the radio whether or not the message is good. Many of today's songs promote sex, drugs and violence. Without a source of music with wholesome, positive lyrics and message, our young persons will constantly be bombarded with unhealthy influences. It is in the interest of my community and every community to provide a wholesome environment for our youth and for everyone else. I am 57 years old and I listen to KLOVE every day. I also support them financially. It would be tragic to replace this type of programming with LPFM and remove one more choice from the public.

Thank you.
